Dear Luke Shingles

It is my pleasure to advise you that on 30 September 2015 the Director, Science Education of the ANU Colleges of Science approved the award of your degree of Doctor of Philosophy. I congratulate you on this significant achievement.

You will be invited to have your degree conferred at the graduation ceremony to be held in December 2015. Information about the graduation ceremony will be available at:

www.anu.edu.au/students/graduation and an invitation will be sent to you via your ANU student email, together with other important documents, in October 2015. If you are graduating with a PhD, you will not be able to commence using your doctoral title, until the degree has been conferred.

If you require use of your doctoral title and/or your graduation documents sooner, you may request for the degree to be conferred before the December graduation ceremonies. This request must be received no later than 31 October. The University will arrange for in absentia conferral.

As previously advised, anonymous copies of the examiners reports are enclosed.

I take this opportunity, on behalf of the ANU, to wish you all the best for your future career.

Yours sincerely,

for Registrar, Student Administration
